Recommendations (optional):

To strengthen Botium Toys' security and ensure the confidentiality of sensitive information, several controls should be implemented, including least privilege, disaster recovery plans, strict password policies, separation of duties, intrusion detection systems (IDS), ongoing legacy system management, encryption, and a password management system.

To address compliance gaps, the company should focus on implementing least privilege, separation of duties, and encryption. Additionally, proper asset classification is necessary to identify further controls needed to enhance their security posture and better protect sensitive data.
